Panhandle Cited As Nation's Windiest Region

Study Calls For Wind Energy Institute At University

The Texas Panhandle — generally proven to be the one region in the United States with the greatest potential for wind energy development — and West Texas State University specifically should be given top priority in any state or national program to develop alternate energy sources.

That's the crux of a 200-page report issued recently by Dr. Vaughan Nelson, WTSU physicist, and Earl Gillmore, Amarillo College physicist, to the Governor's Advisory Council on Energy Resources in Austin. The report is based on research financed by the council through the summer months, research which confirmed earlier research by the two associates indicating the Texas Panhandle is the prime location for studies relating to the use of wind to supply energy for a nation plagued by shortages of fossil fuel.

In their research, Nelson and Gillmore examined National Weather Service data on wind velocity and duration and frequency to determine wind energy potential in various locations around the nation and particularly in Texas.

"All things considered, the region of greatest wind energy potential in the United States is located mainly in the Panhandle of Texas," the report states. "Other large areas of the state have above average wind energy potential as well."

The researchers conclude that the potential electrical output from the wind in Texas is estimated to average about 250,000 megawatts, or about eight percent of the nation's anticipated demand for electrical power in 1980.

Using mathematical models and computer computations, Nelson and Gillmore examined the various potential uses for wind in providing energy to heat, cool and light homes, businesses and factories, to pump water and to provide many other energy-related benefits. The feasibility for using large wind energy conversion systems to provide electricity or other energy for use in various activities, and for using smaller conversion systems was also examined in the study report.

In general, Nelson and Gillmore report, conversion systems — much like the traditional windmill in operation and concept — could produce energy to provide electricity, chemical energy such as hydrogen and oxygen or ammonia, thermal energy, and could also produce energy to pump water.

The availability of fossil fuels such as oil and coal have had an impact on the development of conversion systems for wind energy, the report says, but with shortages developing and the long-range outlook for fossil fuel availability the wind could be a viable energy source within the decade.

In examining the potential for wind using current technology to supply energy to various activities, Nelson and Gillmore break down their concept to discuss the use of large conversion systems, medium systems and small systems.

Systems which might provide the total electrical supply for rural homes, farms, ranches and small businesses "will not presently compete on economic grounds with power from the utility networks for more than a minute fraction of Texas residents," they say. However, under certain circumstances, it could

Industrial Park Here Could Enhance Search For Growth

The search for industry has become an increasingly competitive and almost exasperating experience for local business leaders, who now believe Canyon might enhance its attractiveness by establishment of an industrial park.

Several business leaders and city officials said this week they believe Canyon should begin studying the possibility of establishing a site equipped with utilities and other paraphernalia which would be ready-made for new industry.

Their opinions are based on recent experiences involving hard work and long hours but which proved unfruitful in the search for industry to locate in or near Canyon.

While they say the loss of two potential industries recently to other cities is not a direct result of lack of an industrial park, they note that such a park would make it far easier to attract other interested industrial expansion to the area.

"I think we need one," David West, vice president of First National Bank and a prime mover in Canyon to promote industrial growth, said. It is, West said, apparently a fact of life in the industrial promotion business that towns with substantial attractions, such as an industrial park, are the towns which will attract industry.

West said Canyon recently lost bids on two major industries, one to Amarillo and another to a New Mexico city, due primarily to the lack of facilities in the city to compete with facilities available in those other cities.

West said the search by towns for new industry is still an extremely competitive business and that establishment of an industrial park here would give Canyon an even break with many communities.

Canyon Chamber of Commerce President John Childs agreed with West that the city needs an industrial park to aid in the attraction of industry.

And, so did City Manager George Loudder, who said with an industrial park Canyon could attract industry to give the city a diversified economic base.

But, there are apparently numerous problems associated with any discussion about establishment of an industrial park.

At a more practical level, West is quick to point out that good land for potential industrial development is scarce in the areas surrounding Canyon.

"I'd give anything if we could locate a half section of land with highway and railroad and reasonably close to Canyon," West said.

Two West Texas State University students huddle under one umbrella as they stride across campus Tuesday in heavy rains. Canyon received 1.37 inches of moisture from rains which began Saturday and ended early Wednesday. Happy area reporters said they received about 3 inches in the downfall.

Canyon Police Chief Al Stewart uses an engraver to mark an identification number on a piece of equipment to initiate the Operation Identification program now underway in Canyon through the auspices of policemen and sheriff's deputies.

Crime Prevention Program Seeks Citizen Awareness

A year-long crime prevention program begins today in Canyon and Randall County with the kick-off of Operation Identification, a property-marking program designed to thwart burglars and help local law enforcement officers return stolen property.

Canyon Police Chief Al Stewart and Randall County Sheriff Cliff Longest announced Wednesday the beginning of the crime prevention operation, a coordinated effort for cities and counties in the area served by the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission.

"Crime prevention is a vital part of law enforcement," Steward said. "If we can stop some of the crimes before they happen, not only will we have a safer community, but we'll also be saving some tax dollars, since the money that would be spent to handle the increased case load of the country's rising crime rate would be channelled into more productive areas."

Operation Identification is the first project in the crime prevention public information and education program which begins today. The project's objective is to make individuals more aware of the steps they can take as private citizens to arrest the growth of crime. The primary target of this year's activities is burglary.

Recent statistics released by the Canyon Police Department indicate crime has increased by about 40 percent in the first half of 1974 over the same period in 1973.

The regional crime prevention program which Canyon and the county are participating in is funded by the Criminal Justice Division of the Governor's Office with federal funds from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

Stewart said for many communities the concept of crime prevention is relatively new. Many, he noted, have been concerned primarily with crime after-the-act. The Operation Identification program is concerned with preventing crimes and seeks to enlist public support to accomplish that goal.

Operation Identification is aimed at marking property with an easily-traced identification number and is only one portion of the overall crime prevention effort.

Stewart explained that the city police department and the county sheriff's office have on-hand several small engravers which can easily mark any hard-surfaced material.

The local plan is for citizens to contact the police or sheriff's departments and check out one of the engravers for two or three days, take the engraver home and mark all possible items which might be susceptible to theft by burglary.

Stewart said residents should mark their property with their drivers license numbers, easily traceable through the Texas and national crime information networks.

By marking property with the number, residents make it much more difficult for burglars to resell the property. And, once recovered, the property and owner are easily matched by the number.

County Ignores State Bid Law

County commissioners apparently violated Texas law Monday when they approved the purchase of $2600 worth of IBM typewriters for various county offices.

An order for four IBM selectric, self-erasable, typewriters was placed by commissioners during their Monday session. The typewriters were requested for the district clerk's office, the district attorney's office and the county clerk's office.

At least two Texas civil statutes outline the county commission's responsibility in purchasing supplies for county offices and neither allow the commissioners to make a purchase of as much as $2600 worth of equipment without advertising for bids for competitive prices.

Article 1659, Vernon's Annotated Civil Statutes, outlines the procedure county commissioners must follow in purchasing supplies or equipment.

"Supplies of every kind, road and bridge material, or any other material, for use of said county, or any of its officers, departments, or institutions must be purchased on competitive bids, the contract to be awarded to the party who, in the judgment of the commissioners court, has submitted the lowest and best bid," states the statute.

The statute does allow for emergency purchases. However, county commissioners gave no indication Monday they were making the typewriter purchases to meet some emergency contingency.

"In case of emergency, purchases not in excess of $300 may be made upon requisition to be approved by the commissioners court without advertising for competitive bids," the statute says.

Another statute also refers to the purchase of equipment and supplies for the county road maintenance department, but again requires competitive bidding.

Article 6716-1, Section 15, VACS, says all equipment, sup-

No New Taxes For Hosp., 'Palo Duro' Name Picked

Taxes for residents of the South Randall County Hospital District will remain stable for another year.

Board members Monday night adopted a 1974-75 budget which calls for no tax increase. They also approved a name for their hospital, which is now under construction in East Canyon. The hospital will be dubbed The Palo Duro Hospital.

A hearing for the budget which goes into effect Oct. 1, drew no audience Monday night and board members spent little time perusing the document they'd okayed in tentative form in August.

The budget, which remains only a tentative proposal, calls for general fund receipts of $132,000 and expenditures of $115,245.

Administrator Ray Grimes told board members it will be necessary to revise the budget when the Palo Duro Hospital is opened to accept patients, hopefully just after Jan. 1.

Tax collections for the coming fiscal year are expected to bring in $116,000 for the hospital district based on the current tax rate of 25 cents per $100 on 51 percent of valuation. The board begins its fiscal year with a carry-over balance of $15,000 and anticipates a $1000 income from interest for the year.

They anticipate spending about $79,000 for bond principal and interest for the coming year, the largest single item of expenditure in the budget. Salaries are anticipated to total about $12,000 and indigent care and expense is estimated to run $10,000 for the year. However, Grimes told board members he's been extremely conservative in his budget expenditure estimates and anticipates saving as much as $22,000 by year's end. And, he noted, some of the expense items could be absorbed through regular operations of the new hospital when it opens.

Construction fund receipts for the coming year are expected to total $579,000 including $100,000 in interest income. Grimes said the board plans to expend the entire amount during the fiscal year for construction costs at the hospital site.

In other business, Mrs. Nolon Henson, board secretary, reported her ad hoc committee recommended the name of the hospital be Palo Duro Hospital.

After only brief discussion, the board adopted the name.

Gas Study Meet Due City Aid

Noting that the gate rate for cost of gas through Pioneer Natural Gas Co. has risen by nearly 100 percent since Jan. 1, Canyon city commissioners agreed Monday to send Commissioner J. Pat Stephens and City Manager George Loudder to Lubbock tonight to meet with other city officials to discuss Pioneer rates.

Loudder gave commissioners a memorandum outlining the rise in cost of gas to the city gate and a recent Texas Railroad Commission decision regarding a rate request by a South Texas gas company.

The Railroad Commission declined to allow Lone Star Gas Co. a 10 percent monthly cost pass-through allowance, which is now allowed by Canyon and

Astrodome An Exciting Place

By MILDRED TURNER

YOU KNOW, I was saying I had made a few samples of hot sauce; I finally decided I'd better get it canned, so had sixteen pints. I had beets in the garden so got my beet pickles made up last week.

Judy and Gene brought me a hundred pounds of new potatoes from Hereford so I sorted them; canning the small ones. Friday after I wound up that canning, I packed my bags and went to Mary and Leon Turner's where I spent the night. Saturday I got up and came down to Houston to Belva and J. T. Winters'.

We went to the baseball game at the Astrodome shortly after I arrived where the Astros swiped a win from the Atlanta Braves. The Braves were ahead the first part of the game, then the game was knotted for an exciting period and suddenly in the last of the tenth inning the Astros surged forward when Max Leon walked the batter, Csesar Cedeno, who promptly stole second (for the second time!) Lee May made it to first.

Upon a throwing error, Milt May walked to first, Lee May to second and Cedeno was on third loading the bases.

The Braves pulled in their right outfield (for a possible play at home plate) as Rader came up to bat, blasting a game winning grounder beyond the outfielders in the right center all the way to the fence. Yeah!

I got such a bang out of watching the people, I could hardly keep my eyes on the exciting game. They were dressed in everything from long evening dresses, short shorts with short tops to pant sets and the sport clothes we are used to.

I noticed it was a family affair in many cases with many smaller children (which I don't notice at most games at home). Some folks were eating and running back and forth paying no attention at all to the game. Others had eyes glued on the game. When the Astros scored, some would yell, kiss the one next to them, sock each other, jump up and down or scream. One lady's bare arm was burned with a cigarette and one person got the person behind her's drink down her collar.

Once, when everything was quiet we saw this stream of water pouring down on a girl in front of us. We didn't know if the building leaked or someone on the balcony spilled it. She calmly blotted her head and finished watching the game.

I was impressed with the size of the Astrodome and Belva says the seats are moved by a mechanical device for different sports. It is a great building and Houston can be proud of it.

Did I tell you our family was in Houston about the first week in August? While there, we went to Galveston to the beach. The girls and I enjoyed the waves so much Belva said she was ready to go whisper to the life guard to "go drag that old lady in, she's drowning," when we finally came back. We enjoyed the ocean, seafood, driving around Galveston to see the old fascinating castles in that area.

Next, we went to Tenaha, Texas, population 1094, to see Sara and John Bowie. They love this quaint little old fashioned town in east Texas. They are clearing some land, plan to build later. Sara is learning to make bread and has bought a churn. Heath has a cat named "Franklin." The population of Tenaha will be 1095 around Thanksgiving according to the Bowies.

By the way, I guess you are wondering why I came down to Houston alone leaving G.G., Janet and Sheree to hold down the fort. Belva and J.T. are expecting any day now. I may be home by the time you read this, but will keep you posted about the little one.

Do you remember Linda Watts (from Arkansas) who married Steve Dees? They are also expecting around Thanksgiving and are living in Kansas.

THE PALISADES LADIES met in the park with a picnic lunch and worked as planned. Pearl Vaughn was telling me they got a lot of cleaning done and sure had fun.

I'm so sorry I missed but was the only time I could get a plumber out. Also Belva had just called the night before saying the doctor said to get on down here.

So I cooked roast, meat loaf, etc., and put in the freezer with gingerbread so the girls and G.G. would not have to cook all the time. Anyway, was sorry but will make it when I can.

I AM THINKING of and praying for all our sick people and shut-ins. According to sources Mrs. Williams, Mr. Trimble and Greg Moore are all on the mend. Any news you may have give to Janet or Sheree and have them write it down for me.

Love you, M.T. — 622-0701

Department Gives Four Scholarships

The West Texas State University Department of Industrial Education awarded $200 scholarships to four students at the first meeting of the West Texas Industrial Association.

They are Kenneth Sanning, sophomore industrial distribution major, Richard Palmer, senior industrial distribution major, Johnny Podrovitz, industrial technology junior, all of Amarillo, and Donald Knipe, industrial education senior from Snyder.

According to Don Envick, head of the WTSU IE Department, the scholarships were made possible by donations from Cottingham Bearing, the North Texas Industrial Distributors Association and a Denver manufacturer who wants to remain anonymous.

Puppetry Subject Of Fine Arts Club

"Puppetry Lifts Literature" was the subject of a program by Dr. Enid Bates presented for the Canyon Fine Arts Club at a meeting Monday evening, Sept. 23, in the home of Mrs. Margaret Harper.

The lecture included a slide presentation of puppets as they had been used by children and Dr. Bates also traced the uses of puppets through the ages.

A covered dish supper preceded the program and a business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Donna Underson, followed the program. Afterward the group discussed the possibilities of securing music, records and instruments of historical interest to be presented to the museum here.

Fifteen members were present. Next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. October 21 with Jo Green as hostess.

Professor Named To Tax Committee

Dr. Albert R. Mitchell, professor of accounting at West Texas State University, has been appointed to serve as one of 11 members of the Responsibilities in Tax Practice Committee of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

Appointing Mitchell to his one-year post was Mr. Philip L. Defliese, chairman of the Board of the AICPA. Mitchell is the first WTSU professor to achieve such national recognition, and one of only several educators to earn a position on the more than 100-member total tax committee.

"One of the committee's functions is the issuance of Statements on Responsibilities in Tax Practice," Mitchell noted, "which prescribe the standards of tax practice to be observed by Certified Public Accountants." The committee, which has issued nine statements thus far, meets approximately four times a year, according to Mitchell

Lions Club Sponsors Zogi Revue

A full baggage car of equipment is required to stage the Zogi TV-Orama, a stage revue which is to appear here Monday night at 8 p.m., October 7 at the Activity Center ballroom.

Zogi and his TV Stars are playing a series of one night stands for the first time since 1960. In recent weeks over $25,000 has been invested in the Zogi Road Revue Show bringing the total investment to a tremendous sum.

C. A. Frank, business manager, declined to name the total figure because, as he says, "It would be unbelievable." However, he did say that Prince Zogi could retire for life on the amount that is invested in the Revue and provide his cast a substantial retirement, too.

The Zogi Stage Revue will be presented against a background of numerous colorful changes of scenery and will utilize an abundance of dazzling, exotic costumes, some of which were created in the Orient, while others were designed in Hollywood, New York, London, and Paris.

This is the show that entertained Broadway, dumfounded Hollywood and Chicago . . . and enthralled thousands upon thousands from coast to coast.

"Back Stage," a theatrical trade journal, declares that the Zogi Revue is one of the most charming shows on the road today. The audience will enjoy every minute of the dazzling two hour production and go away declaring it to be one of the finest shows of the decade.

Since the show attracts large crowds at every performance, it's wise to purchase tickets well in advance. People were turned away at the Star-Dust in Las Vegas. Headline acts include Comedy, Music, Magic & Illusions, a variety of combined entertainment, that has pleased and satisfied millions from coast to coast.

Advance sale tickets may be purchased from members of the Canyon Lions Club.

Yugoslavian Dance Company Presents Routine

Dracula, Dance Show Set For Fall At WT

Four outstanding programs are planned for the West Texas State University academic year that are somewhat unusual, educational and entertaining, according to Dr. John Green, special program chairman at West Texas State.

Boston Professors Raymond McNally and Radu Florescu will conduct a discussion on "The Search for Dracula" at 8 p.m. Oct. 8 in WT Activities Center. A discussion is scheduled for 4 p.m. that afternoon.

The legendary Count Dracula, the fictional nobleman who rose from his coffin nights to drink blood from the necks of Victorian ladies, was inspired by a real person—ghoulishly cruel, but not a vampire, according to these professors.

Professor Florescu has discovered that his heritage is traced back to Dracula's times and has tracked the vampire trail throughout Romania three separate times. He found Dracula's castle in 1969.

Surrounded by dense forests, its walls rising straight up from the sides of a 300-foot precipice, the castle was every bit as imposing, isolated and sinister as the man, Prince Dracula, that the two professors had spent nearly a decade researching.

According to Florescu, Dracula means "son of the Devil." It was derived from his father, Dracul, which is the word for Devil in modern Romanian.

"We have no doubt that there really was a Dracula," Oxford-educated Florescu said, "and the count was as fiendish as his fictional reputation, except he wasn't a vampire."

In contrast with the Dracula Program is the Yugoslavian dance company FRULA at 8 p.m. on Nov. 4 in the WT Fieldhouse. It was founded in 1964 by Dragoslav Dzadzevic, former artist-director of the Branko Krsmanovic Ensemble. Dzadzevic created, according to Dr. Green, an explosively colorful, varied, and fast-moving show that fairly bursts at the seams with energy and vitality and keeps the audiences riveted to the edges of their seats from the first curtain to the last.

Dzadzevic started with an ensemble of 30 carefully selected dancers, singers and musicians. He embarked upon a prolonged and intensive research and training program, taking his small troupe to the farthest reaches of their homeland to study and perfect the music and folkways they discovered there. They developed a unique style, which has brought them international reknown, Dr. Green explained.

There are now 40 dancers, acrobats, folk instrumentalists, and singers whose average age is twenty-one.

After traveling to Eastern European theatre capitals, North Africa, South and Central America and the Far East, FRULA will be making their first visit to the United States and Canada.

Future programs, according to Dr. Green, include Dr. Joyce Brothers, nationally-known psychologist, who will be on campus for a lecture session in February, then Roone Arledge, president of ABC Sports, who is expected in March.

Routine No Routine For WTSU Musical Composer

It's no secret that Dr. N. Joe Nelson, acting coordinator of the Music Theory and Composition Department at West Texas State University, is moon-lighting on the side — but no one in the department is complaining.

With his daily teaching schedule of theory and composition classes concluded, Dr. Nelson turns his attention to other work: his own musical compositions. Faithfulness to a routine is of the utmost importance in any type of creative endeavor, he points out. "On a routine the skills stay up, like being in practice on an instrument, and composition goes faster."

The self-imposed acceptance of discipline and routine is characteristic of the young composer, who devotes a daily time to the toil of committing his music to manuscript. The gap that exists between the composer's imaginative ideal and the working possibility the performer must have requires compromise, which Nelson says, "is as much the essense of composition as of diplomacy."

His most recent composition, the Trio Tabuteau for Oboe and two channels of tape recording, will be performed by Robert Krause and the Music Department's new EMLIOL synthesizer on September 29 at 3 p.m. in the Branding Iron Theatre. The composition takes its cue from famed oboist Marcel Tabuteau of the Philadelphia Orchestra, who practiced and taught a high degree of control over variations in instrumental tone. Nelson describes his new opus as "relaxed, unpretentious; it doesn't force anything or try to make any big statements."

The listener can expect to hear a moving, even rhapsodic sort of music in which the oboe creates a freely melodic mood. The tones realized by the synthesizer possess a range of timbres from throaty, organ-like low ones to dulcet tones in the upper register which are reminiscent of a Japanese koto or Indian sitar. The infinite range of timbres realized by the synthesizer contributes to the sensual impact of the music, as does the complex rhythmic interaction between the two taped channels and the oboe soloist.

"The area of electronic music is wide-open, incredible," Nelson says, explaining that "possible variations in timbre are infinite; every aspect of the sound — timbre, volume, duration of note, pitch — are subject to precise control."

Though the synthesizer can be used to reproduce electronically the sound of conventional instruments such as violin and clarinet, Dr. Nelson says this is not practical.

"To reproduce just the first quarter second of a violin attack would take six filters, six amplifiers and six envelope generators. The synthesizer excels, however, at producing totally new timbres," he added.

Though an innovator in his use of the electronic synthesizer, Nelson keeps his artistic distance from whatever muses inspire the cacophony of much modern music. He avoids harsh contrasts, preferring instead the 'in-between' of musical expression.

Man No-Billed By Grand Jury

Randall County grand jurors have no-billed an 18-year-old Amarillo man formerly charged with murder in connection with an August 25 shooting in South Amarillo.

The no-bill was returned on Gilbert Saldivar, charged with the shooting death of Carlos Dunn, 20, of Amarillo.

Five other persons were indicted by the grand jury during their Monday session.

William D. Ballou, 20, of Amarillo, was indicted on a charge of armed robbery in connection with the Sunday robbery of an Amarillo convenience store. An alleged accomplice, Stewart D. Allen, 19, of Amarillo, was also indicted on similar charges.

Both men were arraigned Monday afternoon before 181st Dist. Court Judge Don Dean.

Stephen M. Braboy, 17, of Amarillo was indicted on two counts of armed robbery both involving the robbery of two Amarillo convenience stores in mid-September.

Lyndel M. Stephens, 18, of Amarillo, was indicted on a charge of armed robbery in connection with the June 25 robbery of the Twin Drive In in Amarillo.

Glenn F. Reisinger, now in custody in Pennsylvania, was indicted on a charge of burglary of a habitation.

Could Use Some Sunshine.

By REBA RAEF

This is sure getting to be a wet country.

The much needed moisture will delay the sugar beet and maize harvest. For this, we could use some sunshine, but for the moisture, we are most grateful.

We think the way the students at Canyon High and Caprock High have come to the aid of the Kelly Forehand family is proof positive that there are still a lot of great kids around, in spite of the teenage crime reports in the news these days. We think they should be highly commended for their good deeds.

CHS Graduate Among Who's Who Listing

Mary Jane Townsend, a 1973 graduate of Canyon High School was recently notified that she is to be featured in the Eighth Annual Edition of WHO'S WHO AMONG AMERICAN HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS, 1973-74, the largest student award publication in the nation.

Students from over 20,000 public, private, and parochial high schools throughout the country are recognized for their leadership in academics, athletics, activities, or community service in the books. Less than 3% of the junior and senior class students nation-wide are awarded this recognition.

Mary Jane is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Townsend of 507 23rd Street, Canyon. She was active in high school in Junior Engineering Technical Society and National Honor Society as well as competing in UIL contest as a member of the Science Team. She was a member of the Honors List of the Westinghouse Science Talent Search for 1973, and she presented papers to the Texas Junior Academy of Science and to the Texas Junior Science and Humanities Symposium at the University of Texas at Austin.

Miss Townsend was a Regional winner in the South Plains Science Fair in Lubbock, winning a trip to the International Science and Engineering Fair in South Bend, Indiana, in May. She received several cash awards and certificates for her project at the International Fair.

She was Salutorian of The Senior Class of 1974 of Canyon High School and received the high school Bausch & Lomb Four-Year Science award and the four-year social studies award as a result of her superior work in those two areas.

Miss Townsend worked this past summer in the Bioengineering Research Laboratories at Texas A & M University. She is currently a freshman student in Bioengineering at Texas A & M where she received an engineering scholarship.

Two Admit Guilt In District Court

Two men pleaded guilty to burglary charges Monday morning in 181st District Court here.

Mark A. Young, 30, of Ferndale, Mich., pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary with intent to commit theft in connection with the July 13 break-in of Ken's Auto Parts in Amarillo. He received a four-year probated sentence.

County Okays 1975 Budget, New Fire Contract

County commissioners okayed Monday a budget which is ostensibly in the red, learned, though, they can expect additional revenue to put it in the black and then turned blue when they began considering a new yearly fire contract with the City of Amarillo.

During regular session, the commissioners found no interest in their proposed 1975 budget and County Judge Woody Pond held the floor open for less than a minute before gavelling a public hearing for the budget to a close.

Only a handful of students attended the commissioners meeting, and they voiced no interest in the budget.

The budget hearing, scheduled for 2 p.m., followed by only minutes a report from Mrs. Audrey Bruse, tax assessor-collector, that the county can expect a windfall of about $61,000 from the tax roll projects this year, much over the anticipated tax revenue figured in the adopted budget.

With the $61,000 in additional monies, it is possible the county might end fiscal 1975 without a deficit which has been a hallmark of county financing during the past three years.

The budget approved Monday calls for a deficit of $7000, which would be wiped out by the additional revenue reported by Mrs. Bruse. Total revenues in the budget are $1,355,569. Total expenditures are $1,363,387.

Mrs. Bruse presented a comparative analysis for this year's tax roll when examined next to the roll in 1974. Due to growth in the county over the past year, she said, the county can anticipate revenues to climb by $61,277.

She figures, for example, the county can anticipate an additional $20,000 in tax revenue from automobiles this year over last year. A like amount is anticipated from an increase this year in business personal property, and another $20,000 increase is expected from real property.

Total tax roll in 1973 was $685,988 and a roll of $747,266 is anticipated this fall.

Assessed value in the county is expected to climb from a 1973 level of $396,232 to a 1974 level of $429,852.

From that pleasant news, commissioners went to another item demanding their attention, this one concerning the renewal of a contract with the City of Amarillo to provide fire fighting units to answer fire calls in rural county areas outside Canyon and Amarillo city limits, and north of Hollywood Road.

With grumbling, commissioners okayed the contract for its first year in 1973, a contract which called for the county to pay the city $845 for each fire call answered by Amarillo fire fighting units.

Even though the new contract calls for a lower price per fire call for the coming year, commissioners couldn't help but grumble again.

The contract provides a payment per call of $801, a decline of $44 per call for the coming year.

"We might as well accept it," said John Fulgenzi with a sigh. "We've been down that road so many times already."

Fulgenzi and other commissioners met with Amarillo city commissioners several times during the past year to re-examine the fire call payments, but to no avail.

Fulgenzi noted the irony in the fire call payment system demanded by Amarillo.

"The more fires you have the cheaper it is per call," he said with a grin. "Isn't that something?"

Commissioners also grumbled when they were presented with mandated salary hikes for two district court reporters. Dist. Judges Don Dean and E. E. "Gene" Jordan filed orders with commissioners, demanding their court reporters' salaries be raised by about 6 percent beginning Jan. 1.

The new salaries will be $13,173 per year each, with the county paying about 37 percent of those salaries.

Two years ago, commissioners refused at first to advance the pay of Jordan's court reporter, asking how much the reporter made on the side through sale of briefs and depositions. Nevertheless, Jordan's order stood, his court reporter declared his income sources were none of the county's business, and the salary hike was paid.

In other business, commissioners agreed to purchase four new IBM typewriters for use in the district attorney's office, the district clerk's office and the county clerk's office. The purchase, totalling $2592, was not made on a competitive bid basis.

Bob Davis of Columbian Securities Corporation met with the court to set tentative dates for opening of bids for construction of a possible South Amarillo courthouse annex.

Notice will be given Oct. 7 that the commissioners intend to issue $600,000 in certificates of obligation to finance the construction. Then on Nov. 4, commissioners will receive the bids from contractors and award the contract on Nov. 14.

Commissioners approved the advertisement for bids for a steam cleaner for the county road maintenance department. Road Supt. Joe West said the cleaner should cost between $1200 and $1400. It will replace a cleaner burned in a recent fire at the county barn.

Commissioners met in executive session for more than an hour Tuesday morning to discuss possibly hiring an appraiser for the county tax office to begin reappraisal efforts in the county. No action was taken.

Wind. . .

be worthwhile for small energy users to use the wind to supply supplementary energy for rural homes, farms, ranches or small businesses.

Noting that windmill use for pumping of water "has been the only continuously successful utilization of wind power in the U.S.," Nelson and Gillmore say windmills could still prove functional for irrigation purposes.

"Wind powered units should experience increasing appeal if natural gas availability continues to be unsure as it was in the Texas Panhandle during the early part of the 1974 growing season," the report says.

In addition, windmills might also be used to pump shallow oil wells.

Nelson and Gillmore are pessimistic about the possibility of using medium-size wind energy conversion systems to provide total electrical power for small communities or an industry.

"The cost of storage using presently available devices would be excessive, and few small industries could adjust to the intermittent delivery of power that would occur without storage," the report states.

Nelson and Gillmore suggest the various rural electric cooperatives in Texas investigate the possibility of using medium wind energy conversion systems to provide supplemental energy for their customers.

The researchers report that medium systems might be used in grain elevators to aid in the drying process.

Use of large energy conversion systems for providing the total electricity needs for a large consumer group is deemed impractical by the researchers. But, they see a possibility in the use of systems to provide supplementary energy for large electric company systems. Several research efforts are underway to investigate this possibility, they note.

Large systems might also be used in the production of hydrogen.

But, the development of energy conversion systems with practical application in any circumstance are hindered by some severe problems relating to storage of the energy produced and costs to produce the energy.

Storage systems now in use or under development do not fully meet the demands for efficient wind energy conversion. Because of the intermittent characteristic of the wind, storage is a vital link in the system, but is a weak link at best.

Nevertheless, there are many arguments in favor of a greater involvement by the state in development of energy resources from the wind, Nelson and Gillmore say.

They argue that wind energy potential is high, the fuel is free, non-depletable, and conversion systems would require little use of land, would not pollute the environment and that use of wind energy could improve the economic status of Texas as compared to other states.

They recommend the state provide "a significant level" of support for programs to hasten the utilization of wind energy — including research and development of small and medium conversion systems.

Several recommendations impact directly on WTSU.

Nelson and Gillmore recommend a Wind Energy Institute be established at the university to provide information on wind energy, to research wind characteristics and to develop and test small units for rural applications.

They envision a joint effort between AC and WTSU in developing and testing the small energy conversion units.

A proof of concept experiment involving construction of a small conversion system on the university Nance Ranch at a cost of about $44.00 is also recommended.

In addition, they suggest that the state work with the federal government to place a national wind energy laboratory in the Amarillo vicinity.

"It is our viewpoint that the state should encourage the use of wind and solar energy by moral persuasion, subsidies for research and development, tax incentives, tax penalties for those who persist in wasteful use of fossil fuels, and changes in zoning and materials regulations that would promote the use of wind and solar energy," they say.

for citizen use in determining what objects to mark, are available at the police or sheriff's departments.

In addition to the engraver, citizens using the crime prevention service will also receive small stickers to place in prominent locations in home or car windows to announce that his property is protected by the marking system.

"We recognize that existing law enforcement forces would be completely inadequate to handle the total burden of crime prevention in addition to their current activities," Stewart said, "and that the responsibility for crime prevention, as well as crime control, lies with the public. Therefore, our first responsibility is to let the public know what they can do to prevent crime, using whatever means we can. The first phase of the program is designed to enlist the support, understanding and participation of citizens."

During the year the program is carried out, policemen and deputies will be available for special speeches and other programs on crime prevention.

"Public awareness of the fact that there is a problem is the crux of the matter," Stewart said. "The more everyone knows of the crime problem, and the steps they can take to prevent it from ever occurring, the less trouble we're all going to have with crime."

plies, and materials for the construction and maintenance of county roads and for the county road department shall be purchased by commissioners on competitive bids in conformity with estimates and specifications prepared by the road engineer. The statute does allow commissioners to circumvent the bidding procedure "when in the judgment of the commissioners court it is deemed in the best interest for the county to do so," but purchases without competitive bidding cannot exceed $1000.

Commissioners purchased a half dozen new typewriters a year ago for various county offices but sought competitive bids on that purchase.

Park. . .

Apparently, though, such a location is hard to find.

"An industry came looking the other day and they wanted 100 acres with trackage," West said. The industry went away without finding the land it needed.

"It would be hard to even find land for an industrial park," the banker said.

Finances for establishment of an industrial park would also be a major problem.

Loudder said the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission is currently studying the area's economy as part of an effort for the federal Economic Development Agency. The 25 counties in the region have been named part of an economic development area, which when the PRPC study is completed, will be given the opportunity to seek federal assistance for such developments as an industrial park.

Loudder said the study is to be completed before Jan. 1 and he expects Canyon to be placed in the position of being able to seek a federal grant to pay 75 percent of the cost for development of an industrial park. Local funds would have to pay 25 percent of the development costs.

That 25 percent, which could amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars, could come from private sources in Canyon or from city coffers or from certain bonds.

But, the city manager is not quick to jump at the possibility of partial federal help to establish an industrial park. He believes local residents interested in development of such a park must proceed with caution.

He says one step which should come before any other in the development of a park is a thorough analysis by outside observers to determine what size park would be needed, what types industry might be attracted, what costs might be and what revenues industries could be expected to generate.

"A lot of questions have to be answered," he said. "Where should it be located? How big should it be? What type services would it need to it? It needs a lot of study. You just can't take a piece of land because it looks good."

other cities on Pioneer's West Texas system.

Members of the ad hoc West Texas Utilities Committee are to meet in Lubbock tonight to review the railroad commission's ruling in the Lone Star case and its applicability to Pioneer's pass-through allowance. Canyon commissioners made it clear last spring they would re-examine Pioneer's request this fall when the Lone Star case had been decided.

The first step in that re-examination will come tonight as Pioneer officials are expected to meet with the WTUC in Lubbock.

In other business Monday night, commissioners okayed a change in zoning for property near Canyon High School. Frank Morgan of 201 21st St. had requested the change from single family to multi-family zoning so he might sell the property to a potential buyer who plans to put a mobile home on the land. The city's planning and zoning commission had recommended approval of the request.

Brown, Graham & Co. of Canyon was hired by commissioners as official auditor for the city for the year.

Commissioners opened bids on two police cars and awarded the contract for the two cars to Jess Ford of Canyon, low bidder with a unit price of $2275 per vehicle with trade-in.

Loudder said the city had budgeted about $4300 for the cars.

Jim Sands, owner of Britain Studio in Canyon, appeared before commissioners to seek a change in fire zoning for his property at 5th Avenue and 14th Street. Sands asked the city to allow him to build a new building at the location for his photographic studio without having to comply with a city fire zone ordinance which states he must use 12-inch walls.

Loudder recommended the commission table the request pending further study.

The request was tabled.

Loudder told commissioners they are to meet with Canyon School Board members Oct. 15 to discuss operations of the joint city-school tax office. The governing bodies meet together annually to review the tax office arrangement and sign a new annual agreement.

Following a brief executive session, commissioners named M. B. Sims, Doice Flowers, E. J. Larson, Robert Rogers and Bill McMorries to the city plumbing board.

They tabled action on naming members for the Canyon Housing Authority, which oversees operations of a federally-financed housing project in east Canyon.

Buffaloes Seek Second MVC Win Saturday

WT's Buffaloes, coming off of last week's disasterous loss to New Mexico State 41-0, will seek their second Missouri Valley Conference win as they face the Wichita State Shockers in Frank Kimbrough Memorial Stadium Staruday night at 7:30 p.m.

A crowd of only 8,000 is expected according to Bill Cousins, sports information director at WT. Last week a crowd of 14,000 were on hand hoping to see the Buffs repeat their performance which gave them their first win of the season over Drake University.

WT goes into the game with a 1-1 season record, while Wichita State is winless in three starts. Wichita has lost to New Mexico State by a score of 13-12, Oklahoma State, 59-0 and Kansas State 17-0. WSU is 0-1 in the MVC.

The Buffs own a 6-4 advantage in the series of meetings between the two teams. The first meeting between the two teams came in 1946 when the Buffs won 7-6. WT's biggest win was in 1970 when they ran away from the Shockers 43-0. Wichita won by 17 in 1960 in a 31-14 game.

Last year WSU broke a five-game winning streak for WT in the series with a 30-14 win in the Shockers' Cessna Stadium.

Last week, Wichita saw its scoreless streak move to nine straight quarters with the loss to Kansas State, the second Big Eight Conference member to face the Shockers this year.

The Buffs could muster only 174 total yards on offense last week in their first loss of the season. They gave up the ball to NMS on four fumbles and four interceptions. The Buff defense allowed Jim Germany to gain 143 yards for the Aggies. Germany also scored three TDs during the game.

Jim Wright, coach at Wichita State, is no stranger to the Texas Panhandle. He was an assistant coach at Texas Tech under J. T. King for six years. Wright was also chief assistant at Mississippi State and Tennessee before accepting the WSU post early this year.

When the Buffs meet the Shockers Saturday, they will be without the services of two starting performers. Offensive tackle John Jacobi suffered a severely sprained ankle in the first period. Mike Lozano left the game in the second quarter with a hamstring strain. They will be out for an indefinite period.

Ted DiBiase, offensive lineman for the Buffs, will be back in action with the team as he started workouts Monday after being sidelined much of the fall with a variety of ailments.

With Lozano, starting weak side safety, on the sidelines, the Buff secondary will have its hands full again with Shocker sophomore quarterback Sam Adkins. Adkins completed 54.9 per cent of his passes this year and pass defense has not been a WT strong suit. Opponents in two games have completed 60 per cent of their passes for 456 yards and five TDs. Buffalo backfield members have intercepted only three passes.

New Mexico State is the only common opponent for the Buffs and Shockers so far this season. The comparison leaves little optimism for WT partisans. Gene Mayfield, head WT football coach, said, "Our coaches who saw the New Mexico State-Wichita State game thought Wichita should have beaten the Aggies." Mayfield also said that with the sound defeat New Mexico State handed WT, the Buffs will have to be a definite underdog against Wichita.

New Mexico State stayed a half-game ahead of Tulsa in the Valley standings after the weekend games. NMSU is 2-0, Tulsa is 1-0 after blasting North Texas 31-6. The Buffs are third with a 1-1 record.

The Buff-Shocker game is the only MVC game scheduled. Other MVC teams will be playing non-conference games.

The Buffs will end a three-game homestand in Kimbrough Stadium by hosting the Southern Mississippi Golden Eagles October 5.

Boxing Club Begins Fund Raising Drive

The Canyon Boxing Club has begun sale of athletic bags and decals in order to raise money for the expenses of the coming season.

The athletic bags are white with purple lettering with the words Canyon Eagles written on the outside. They will sell for $6.50. There are presently only 100 on order. These will be sold on a first come, first served basis.

A $1 deposit is required on the bags. Others will be ordered if the demand exceeds the first 100 ordered. It will take three to four weeks for delivery.

Also iron on decals will be sold for $1.50 each by the club. The decals will state "This is Eagle Country-Canyon Texas." They may be ironed on shirts, coats and notebooks. There are 250 available and will be reordered.

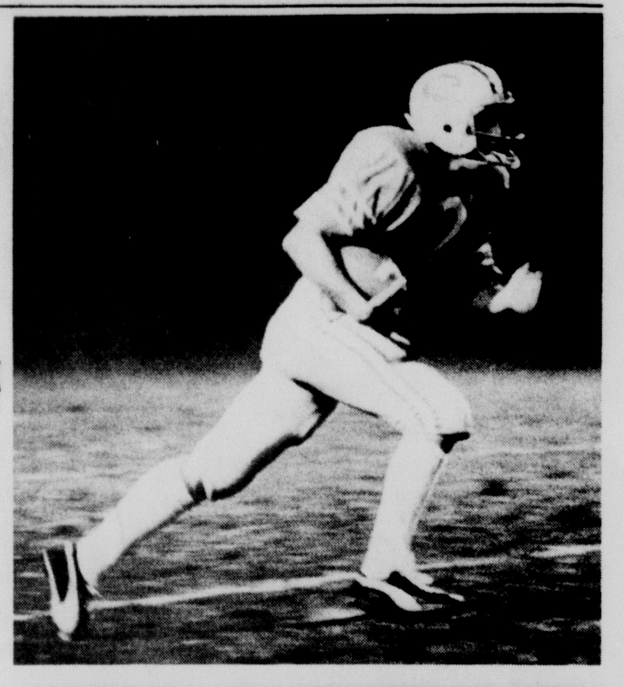
To place an order call Mrs. Elmer Clement at 655-4047 or Mrs. Dee Nix after 6 p.m. at 655-9140.

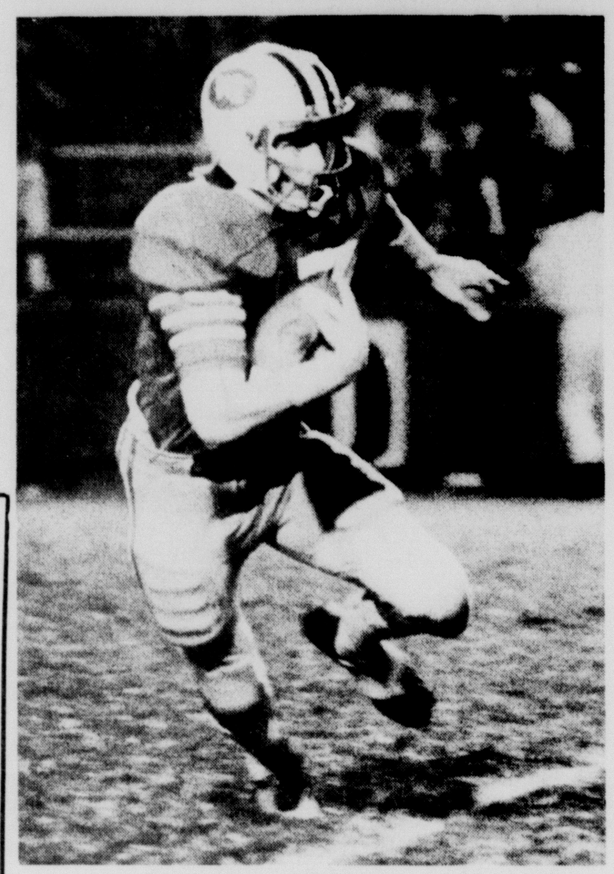
Proceeds from the sale will aid the Canyon Boxing Club. There are 20 boxers presently signed up for the club. They range in age from 10 years through college age. Membership in the club has doubled this year compared to last year.

Wood Needed For CHS Bonfire

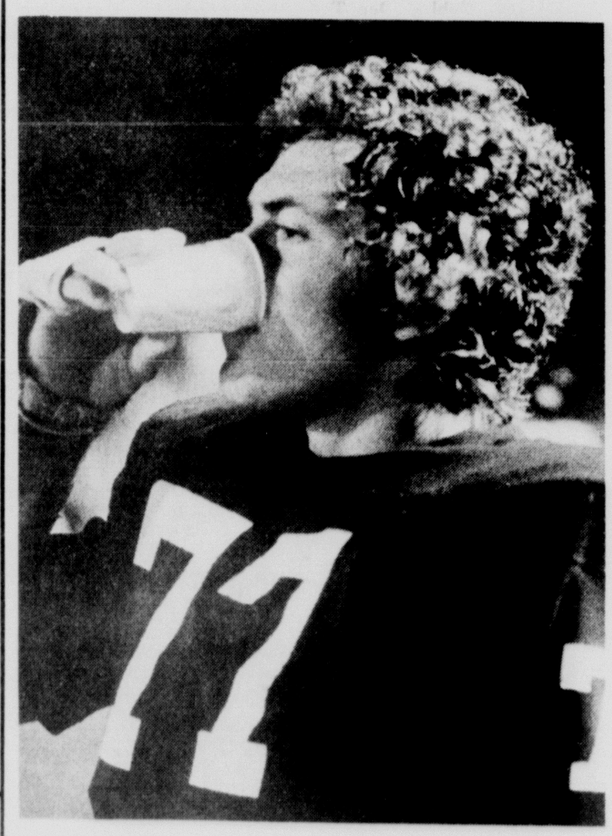
The Canyon High School Sophomore class is seeking old wood for the annual bonfire.

Those who would be willing to give wood to the class are asked to contact Craig Howard at 655-2659 or the Canyon High School office, 655-2168, by October 5.





Mike Lozano, bottom, 5-6, 150 pound junior split end, added to the yardage gained by WT in their game Saturday night. Lozano and Rick Mordecai, top, aided in the defensive secondary in slowing the New Mexico State charge. Mordecai, No. 2, is a 5-11, 163 pound senior corner back. NMS won 41-0.



Kelly Forehand, shown here during the Canyon-Borger game, is in critical condition at Northwest Texas Hospital. A fund has been started at the First National Bank to aid in medical expenses.

Eagles Hope To Hassle Hereford Whitefaces

The Eagles of Canyon High School hope to hassle the Hereford Whitefaces as they did Amarillo Caprock Longhorns last week in their upset victory. The game will be played in Hereford with game time at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

The Eagles will go into the game with a weakened manpower assistance. The Eagles will do without the services of Kelly Forehand who broke his neck during the game last week. Forehand is still in Northwest Texas Hospital.

Jimmy Ward will be a doubtful starter this week because of a knee injury which kept him out of the game last week against Caprock.

Rusty Holladay will be hobbling about and will not see much action. Holladay played several downs for the Eagles but was not going at full speed last week. Also hobbling about this week will be Joe Gillis, senior guard.

Mark Jackson is suffering from a severe sprain. Craig Johnson suffered a bruised kidney during the Caprock contest. Johnson should be ready to go when the Friday night game starts.

Drew Hetzler and Russel Scott will be seeing starting assignments. Terry Hayhurst should be ready to see action this week. This will be the first game for Hayhurst this year. Hayhurst has been out during the season because of a broken collar bone suffered in a fall from a motorcycle while herding cattle in Arkansas. He did not play last week because he was home with a severe case of the flu.

The Eagles will not know exactly where they stand this week. Not only because of the loss of Forehand for the rest of the season but also because of the rainy conditions which has moved the team indoors. The Eagles have been working out in the gym at the high school.

Ron Mills, head coach for the Eagles, stated that it is a big guess as to the effectiveness of the team. Mills said that he hoped the farmers in the Hereford area were also getting a lot of rainfall. Meaning by that of course that hopefully Hereford is not getting the advantage of the locals in the workout department.

So far this season Hereford has won one and lost two. They have lost to Palo Duro and to Pampa. They defeated Borger last week for their first win.

In their loss to Pampa, the Whitefaces gave up the ball on seven fumbles.

Hereford has only one returning offensive starter and three defensive regulars returning for the 1974 season. Only seven lettermen in all are returning. Hereford is picked one place out of the cellar in the district 4-AAAA race.

Hereford will come out throwing as they have a good offensive passing game. Their style of play is similar to Dumas according to Mills. He stated that they run the Wing-T most of the time. Hereford has two good receivers who will be hoping to pick up yardage against the Eagles.

Doug and Dave Charest are assisting Hereford in the yardage department. Dave is 5-11, 157 pound junior running back.

According to Mills, Hereford is not exceptionally large but they are quick. He stated that they are not as tough as some teams but they do stunt and crash a lot.

They have a good quarterback returning from last year's squad to lead the offensive push this year. Mike Crim, who saw some action last fall as a sophomore will get the job of field general. Crim is a 5-10, 184 pound junior.

Others who will be carrying the pig skin for Hereford this week include junior David Artho, junior Kent Hollingsworth and senior Doug Charest.

Young WT Tennis Team To Travel To Midland

West Texas State University will field a young tennis team this weekend at the Midland Open Tournament, their second tourney of the 1974-75 schedule.

Teams that WT will be competing against include Houston University, Rice University, Trinity, Southern Methodist University and Texas University.

Following last season, WT lost their number one, two and three rated players. The most experience for this season's team will come from sophomores and junior college transfers.

Singles players include Jay Goss, sophomore from San Angelo, Brett Hall, sophomore from Houston, Samuel Nunez, junior college transfer from Mexico City, Todd Reed, freshman from Win Field, Kansas, Bobby Kleinecke, freshman from Galveston, Steve Johnson, sophomore from Reno, Nevada, Wayne Marsh, junior college transfer from Ark City, Kansas, and Dana Caledonia, sophomore from LaJolla, California.

Doubles line up includes teams of Marsh and Calendonia, Kleinecke and Reed, Johnson and Nunez and Hall and Goss.

Goss, team captain for the 1974-75 season, was 19 and 2 last year. The 19 that he won were consecutive wins in the number 6 slot on the team.

Hall won 17 straight last year and lost only one match. The match that he lost was the last match of the year. He was the number 5 Missouri Valley Champion.

Johnson, who went 16-4 for the season last year, was the number 4 MVC champion and the number 1 doubles champ.

Nunez, in his first year with the team, comes to WT after having been named National Junior College Champion for 1973. He played for Central Texas College at Killeen, Texas.

Reed, a freshman, is the state of Kansas high school singles champion.

Marsh is the state junior college singles and doubles champion in Kansas.

Kleinecke is a four time Texas State Catholic Doubles Champion.

Caledonia had a 7-3 record last year and went 3-0 in doubles.

In their first tournament of the year, the Tri-State Open in Amarillo and Canyon, Johnson reached the semi-finals where he was beaten by the singles champion in the tournament. Two doubles teams also reached the semi-finals but were defeated there.

One of the major problems facing the WT team going into the tournament this weekend will be the amount of rainfall in the area which has hampered practice.

Coach David Kent stated that he does not like to monopolize the Activity Center facilities this early in the year but because of the rain, he will take his team indoors for practice.

Kent sees North Texas State as one of the strongest teams in the MVC this season. NTSU will have a large number of seniors returning. Southern Illinois will also be a competitor according to Kent.

Happy's Homecoming Friday

Happy High School's twelfth annual Homecoming will be held Friday, Sept. 27, with all ex-students and other friends invited for the activities beginning at 1 p.m. with registration of exes at the high school.

Other honored guests will be the golden anniversary class of 1924 and the silver anniversary class of 1949.

The HHS Cowboy Band will present several numbers during the afternoon assembly as the 'homecoming queen' and her attendants are presented. The Happy Cowboys and coach will also be presented during the program which is open to the public.

Ex-students will have a business meeting for electing association officers after the open program and Mildred Devin will serve as mistress of ceremonies for a brief skit honoring the 'honored classes' at the homecoming. Current presidents of the Exes are Lonnie and LaNelle Todd.

A buffet supper will be served in the school cafeteria beginning at 5:30 p.m. with tickets selling at $2.25. The barbecue supper will be catered by Smokey's of Plainview.

The football game that evening begins at 8 p.m. with the Happy Cowboys meeting Amherst.

After the ballgame, coffee will be served in the cafeteria with Happy Booster Club selling pies.

Oboe Recital Opens Season

A faculty recital featuring Robert Krause, oboist, will be presented in Branding Iron Theatre Sunday, September 29, at 8 p.m. with an open invitation extended to the public by the School of Fine Arts as a new season is opened on the campus of West Texas State University.

"Hedda Gabler" at 2 p.m. Sunday, October 13.

Forehand Still Critical: Fund Started

Kelly Forehand, senior member of the Canyon Eagle football team, is still listed in critical condition at Northwest Texas Hospital. He is in the ICU unit.

Forehand broke his neck during the Caprock-Canyon football game last Friday night.

An account at the First National Bank has been opened for Forehand. According to a bank spokesperson all tellers have the account number. The deposit slip will be kept by the bank and the name of the depositor will be written on the deposit for the Forehand family. One deposit made early this week by a local family was for $107.

Jars have been placed at many of the local businesses by members of the Canyon High football team. This money will also go to the Forehand family to pay expenses at the hospital.

The Canyon Booster Club has appointed a committee to seek money making projects that will be used to pay expenses for the Forehands.

Students from Panhandle high schools have been sending money to aid the Forehands with medical expenses brought about by the accident. Caprock High School has given over $1000.

JV Downs Perryton 13-8

Canyon High junior varsity defeated Perryton Saturday afternoon in Perryton by a score of 13-8. The game had been rescheduled because of the change in the varsity schedule which moved their game against Caprock from Friday to Thursday.

Perryton scored the first touchdown of the afternoon during the first quarter of play. They succeeded in making a two point after touchdown try good.

In the second quarter, a Ricky Cooper pass to Matt Madewell set up the first Canyon TD. On the next play after the pass, Cooper ran on a quarterback keeper play and scored. The PAT was not good. Perryton was still in the lead 8-6.

In the third quarter Jonathan Hull ran off tackle for 55 yards and the only other TD of the game. Cooper kicked the PAT.

Coach Bob Schneider stated that Cooper and Hull did a fine job on offense. He said that defensively, the junior Eagles needed to do more work.

The J.V. fumbled the ball four times and threw four pass interceptions.

Their next game will be against Clovis tonight in Canyon. Game time is 7 p.m.

Indomethecin

Did you know that ASPIRIN lessens the anti-inflammatory effect of the medicine you are taking?

In addition to this, if you are taking frequent does of aspirin while you are "on" Indocin, your actions could possibly lead to stomach trouble—or worse.

Your doctor knows what prescription medicines to give you, and what not to give you. BUT, unless you told him, would he know if later, you decided to take aspirins for one or more days?

Better check these things out with your doctor or pharmacist—if you have the least doubt about taking any other medicines.

THE HAPPY ATHLETIC Booster Club met in the school cafeteria on Tuesday evening of last week. Vice President Johnny Parker presided. Business included adding the pictures of the Happy Cowboys to the home-game programs. Donations were taken for this and LaVenna Jackson was chairman. The decision was made to film each game.

Reports of the week's games were given by Coach Weeks on his junior high team and Coach Vessels on the Happy Cowboys versus Bovina Mustangs. The film was shown and Coach Vessels provided the commentary. We even had instant replay.

Refreshments of coffee and cake were served by LaNelle Todd and Shirley Williams. Everyone is welcome at the Booster meetings every Tuesday evening. You all come!

THE TEXAS HOME Demonstration State Convention was held in Amarillo last week at the Hilton Inn. Eight hundred twenty-five women from over the state of Texas attended.

Dr. Winifred Moore gave the Invocation and Words of Mediation on the first morning. He spoke about the importance of a religious background in the home and the importance of religion in a new marriage and the establishment of a new home.

Mrs. Wilmer Smith gave the first address. She made the statement that "1975 has been set aside by the UN as International Women's Year" and asked the group these questions: "Are women their own worse enemies?" "Do women really support women?" "Do women have to tear men down to build themselves up?" She told us to never do anything that would cause you to lose the respect of men. Fifty-two percent of the American voting public is women. Mrs. Smith asked, "Are you consistently against without knowing why?" "Are you too critical?"

Her instructions were to have faith in our nation and to spend more time talking about what is good in it. Speak out and defend it when everyone else is running it down. She closed by telling the women of Texas to examine themselves and be a person who approved of herself. Self-approval is important. One does her best work in an atmosphere of approval.

Judge Mary Lou Robinson gave the main address of the morning. She reminded us that 20 years ago there were no women jurors. She also reminded us that the family is the most efficient organization and that there is no substitute for it. She urged THDA women to be active in developing themselves and to contribute to their communities. I liked her closing. Don't be afraid to ask dumb questions. Dumb questions are easier to contend with than dumb mistakes. Judge Robinson always has a message. I'd travel miles to hear her.

Wednesday evening's speaker was Mrs. Florence Low. She gave a resume of women's role in American society. Nineteen thousand nine hundred twenty-eight Texas Home Demonstration women have contributed time this year that would amount to over three million dollars worth of work had it had to be paid for. Mrs. Low asked, "What changes would you make? How do you involve young homemakers? What kind of program are the young interested in? Think! What is the situation where you live? What are you going to do about it?"

"Today is the tomorrow you worried about yesterday . . . and it hasn't happened yet." These are the words with which Mrs. Clarence Davis of Quanah, state 4-H leader, opened the 4-H workshop. Mrs. Davis projected an interest in youth that we all should possess. 4-H can be anything you want it to be; anything you make it. These are our leaders of tomorrow.

Mrs. Clarence Tisdale, the State Health leader, introduced Sue Farris, District Extension Agent. Sue told about the PEP workshop on the heart. The program included Dr. Gulde of Amarillo. Dr. Gulde explained the heart and heart attacks with the aid of slides. He concluded with a question and answer period.

Mrs. Charles Warminski of Panhandle was elected State Treasurer. She was installed on Thursday evening as were the other newly elected officers of the State Home Demonstration Association, the largest women's organization in Texas.

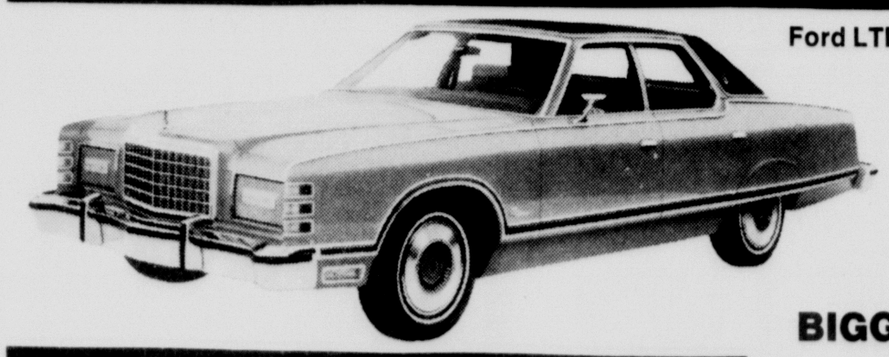
THE '75 FORDS, INCLUDING THE NEW GRANADA!

The new Ford Granada designed to give you efficient use of space, fuel and money.

Almost identical in size and weight to the Mercedes 280, the Granada is about two feet shorter and half a ton lighter than most standard size cars.* So you can expect excellent gas mileage, and exceptional handling ease. Yet there's family-size room inside: front legroom and headroom front to rear, comparable to many standard size cars. The trunk holds 8 pieces of luggage.

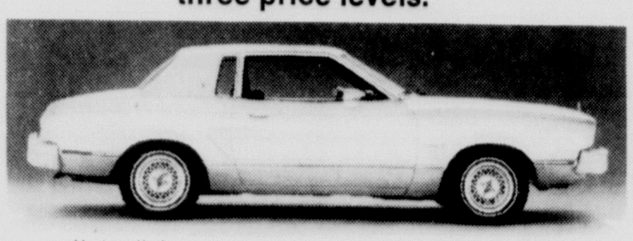
And here's just the top of the list of standard equipment: 200 CID 6-cylinder engine; 3-speed manual transmission; steel-belted radials; solid state ignition; front disc brakes; full wheel covers and accent moldings; individual reclining seats; cut-pile carpeting, and much more.



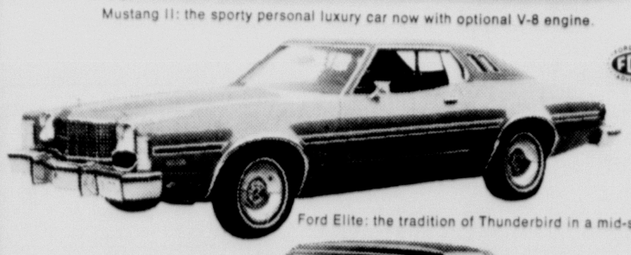
Ford LTD Landau: a logical alternative to longer, heavier, more expensive luxury cars.

Compare the workmanship in LTD Landau as well as its size, comfort and luxury to much more expensive luxury cars. The main thing you don't get is hundreds of pounds of extra weight and almost a foot of extra length (compared to longer, heavier, costlier cars). You do get the security of a solid, full-size, well-made automobile.

Personal luxury in 3 sizes . . . and at three price levels.



Mustang II: the sporty personal luxury car now with optional V-8 engine.



Ford Elite: the tradition of Thunderbird in a mid-size car.

Thunderbird: could it be the best luxury car buy in America?

The small Fords: BIGGER VALUES THAN EVER.

Maverick: the proven family compact.

Pinto: still the leader in basic transportation.

*All comparisons made to 1974 cars.

Rain, Rain

By DORIS McKEE

RAIN, RAIN, RAIN and more rain. It seems that everywhere is getting their share of rain.

I had to make a quick trip to Lubbock Friday evening. It rained on me all the way down and between Hale Center and Lubbock the water was running over the highway at four different places.

I made this trip to get my four year old nephew, who is going to be spending some time with my family, due to his father's being in the hospital, seriously ill.

WELL, THE LADIES Auxiliary garage sale is over and it went pretty well. We do want to thank everyone who helped with the sale and those who donated things. We had quite a few things left over and this time I called the Salvation Army and they came out and picked it all up. We don't plan to have anymore garage sales for quite a while.

THE LADIES BUSY-BODY Club met on Tuesday, Sept. 24, at 7:30 p.m. in the recreation building. This was a social gab session.

We are considering starting a game night. This would consist of canasta and other card games, dominoes and/or anything we can get enough interest in.

DALE WEST WAS telling me that the Fire Truck has a new, shiny, bright red coat of paint now, and that it will be returned to the park shortly. Hopefully the sign will be ready to go on it in a few days (it is being donated also) and then we can get our Open House set up. Will let you know when.

* * *

THE LADIES AUXILIARY will meet again Tuesday, Oct. 1, at 7:30 p.m. We will then start planning and getting started on our Halloween Carnival. Will keep you posted on the progress of this. This carnival will be for the kids in the park and in this area who wish to come.

AM SURE A lot of you have been noticing a new face working around the park. It belongs to Mr. Hugh Rowley, known to some as Uncle Skinney. He is helping with the upkeep of the park. He has just moved into the new mobile home at 213 Loma Linda. We welcome him to the park and hope he will be happy here with us.

SPEAKING OF NEW people in the park, I have just learned that we have the new managers, Bill and Sue Miller, of the Kentucky Chicken in Canyon, living here at 148 Siesta. Welcome to Siesta Park. They have been here two weeks and transferred from Lubbock. They have a four year old daughter named Sheila. They are originally from Abilene, I believe.

It seems Sue had an accident on the job Friday. She was burned, but not seriously and said she wouldn't miss much work. Am very sorry she was burned but glad it wasn't bad.

GUESS I'LL GIVE out with the big doings on our boys here in the park who play football. First off, the fourth grade team at Gene Howe played Olsen Park Sunday afternoon. Gene Howe won 8 to 0. Mickey Bays of Siesta plays for this team.

The fifth grade team played Maverick and once again that ole football was just plain uncontrollable for us and we lost to them by a 6 to 0 score. Tod McKee and Paul Qualls of Siesta play on this team. Keep smiling boys. Things are bound to get better.

Then there is the fifth and sixth grades combined team. They played Pleasant Valley and were defeated by a score of 24 to 0. Roger Robertson, Shannon Jones, and Michael Coffalte play on this team. Don't be blue boys, things are sure to improve.

I believe all of the above named boys took part in the show at the West Texas game Saturday night. The boys really enjoy this and I think it's great.

I TALKED TO Mrs. Rex Holbert of 225 Loma Linda this weekend. It seems she and her husband attended the McQueen Family reunion on the 15th of this month at Memphis. It was held in the community building there and about 112 people attend. Everyone had a good time and a nice visit.

FAYE CONNER HAD a Tupperware party this past week. She had a light turnout but everyone had a good time. Am sure she would have had a better turnout if it hadn't been for the fair.

EUNICE AND BARNEY Rinehart left Friday for a few days. They went to Vernon, and spent Friday and Saturday nights with Gladys and Guinn Davenport. Saturday they all went to the Rod and Gun Club Lake and did some fishing. They didn't catch anything, but one's too small to keep. Eunice didn't let any of them get away with her hook either. She said she would operate on them when necessary to get her hook back. They had fun and that's what counts.

On Sunday Eunice and Barney drove over to Quanah and spent part of the day with Betty and Jodie Lemon and their family. They had hoped to go fishing at Lake Pauline there, but the rain prevented that. They returned home late Sunday afternoon a little tired but pleasured by their trip.

GUESS THAT'S ABOUT all the happenings around here for now. We'll be dropping in again next week. So keep reading.

Thought for this week: "A pat on the back, makes a person feel great."

See you.

Cortez Dowlen Honored With Eastern Star Tea

Canyon City Chapter No. 105 of the Order of the Eastern Star honored Cortez Dowlen of the chapter at a tea Sunday afternoon at Canyon's Community Center.

The tea was in recognition of Mrs. Dowlen's many accomplishments and long standing service in the Eastern Star and recognized her for her service as the Grand Organist for the Grand Chapter of Texas, Order of the Eastern Star.

A number of local friends as well as OES friends from District II, Section III and Amarillo were present for the occasion.

Guests were received by Mrs. Dowlen, and Canyon City Chapter members including Doris Gillham, worthy matron; Jack Parsons, worthy patron; and other chapter members holding grand appointive offices in the district, Allene Leake, Clara Lou Slack, Fay Canada and Osce Parsons.

An arrangement of fall mums decorated the table where guests were registered by local chapter members and the long reception table was attended by chapter officers. The table was laid with an imported cloth and centered with a silver candelabra featuring bittersweet candles, which was presented to the honoree at the conclusion of the tea.

Accenting the table was a streamer honoring Mrs. Dowlen, appropriately inscribed, and featuring a small piano and musician figurine holders bearing bronze and yellow miniature mums. A silver tea service and cutglass punchbowl were arranged on alternate ends of the table.

CHEVROLET FOR 1975. CARS THAT MAKE SENSE FOR TODAY.

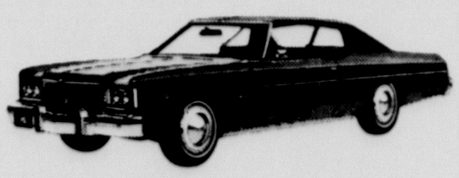
Nova LN Sedan

Monza 2+2

MONZA 2+2 The small car of tomorrow will probably be a little more powerful, handy and comfortable than ever. The 1975 Monza 2+2, shown above, offers this today. It has advances like rectangular headlights set in a soft front end, fold-down rear seat, and a new 4.3-litre V8 engine available.

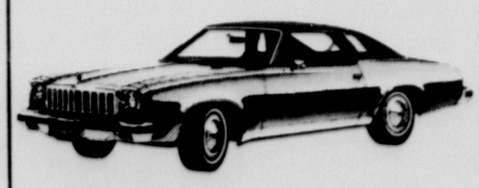
NOVA In the background above, our new Nova LN Sedan. A luxurious Nova with thick carpeting and wide-back reclining front seats. For 1975, all Novas have been emphatically refined along the lines of elegant European sedans. Nova's always been good. Now it's beautiful.

CAMARO Our sensibly sporty compact. It looks like a million and drives like it looks.

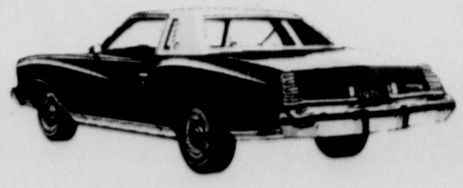


IMPALA America's favorite car continues to provide the room many families need plus plenty of quiet and comfort. Still the great American value.

WAGONS Big ones, small ones, in-between ones. Practical wagons that make sense for America. And you.



CHEVELLE Mid-size, easy to drive, room for six, mid-priced, strong reputation for value. America's most popular intermediate.



MONTE CARLO Its special ability: making you feel good. About the way it looks and drives. About your own taste and judgment.

CHEVROLET'S NEW EFFICIENCY SYSTEM FOR 1975 It's the key part of a program aimed at helping our new cars run leaner (more economically), run cleaner—and save you money every mile.

The Efficiency System is standard on all 1975 Chevrolets with V8 or 6-cylinder engines. It's a series of significant engineering improvements working together for the very first time.

Components include High Energy Ignition, catalytic converter, Early Fuel Evaporation and steel-belted radial ply tires. In sum, the System is designed to heighten the pleasure and lower the cost of driving a 1975 Chevrolet—to bring you a better running car in many ways, along with improved fuel economy, more miles between recommended maintenance and an engine that stays cleaner internally because of no-lead fuel.

Your Chevrolet dealer will gladly give you the details and answer your questions. See him and the sensible 1975 Chevrolets starting September 27.

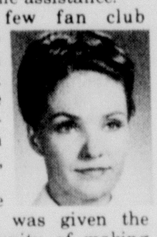
Twenty-five Register For Gene Howe Fan Club

By TROYCE MULHERIN

GREETINGS:

ABOUT TWENTY-FIVE ladies, who signed up on registration day as wanting to be a part of the Gene Howe Fan Club, met recently at the school. Carolyn Farmer, first vice president (program chairman) for the Gene Howe PTA, presided at the indoctrination meeting. Mr. Luther Lawless, school principal; Mrs. Gaylia Cochran, faculty representative member of the PTA Executive Committee; and Ernestine Harp, PTA president; spoke to the group.

The concept of the fan club is to utilize parents who would like to help with various activities and facets of the school. Parents will be helping teachers in whatever areas individual teachers would like to have some assistance.



Quite a few fan club members have already been put to work answering the telephone during the lunch periods; typing, etc.

The Gene Howe faculty was given the golden opportunity of making suggestions for areas of work to be undertaken by these volunteers; and, the parents were given a like opportunity to suggest ways in which they could be of assistance. Good deal from any angle, eh what!

Youngsters, male types — that is, who would like to join with Pack 130 and were unable to attend the roundup, should feel free to call Jim Bruffett at 352-6243 or Pat Seth at 355-6929, and give them the good news.

The boys wanting to join with this pack should be eight years old and in either the second or third grades. This is an active and busy pack, so be prepared for lots of learning and doing fun!

Oh, yes — Jim is the new Cub Master of Pack 130. Good things are bound to evolve from his excellent leadership!

SUZY ZEVELY IS the name of a charming newcomer to Gene Howe. Suzy is an aide in the L/L/D and Remedial Reading programs at Gene Howe. She has taught in the satellite program at the State Center for Human Development and has also taught at Perryton.

Suzy is a sophomore (nearly a junior) at West Texas State, working for a nursing major. This all-around young lady is currently working toward a real estate license, too!

Suzy is newly married (six weeks) to Dan. They reside in Canyon where Dan is a physical education aide at Rex Reeves. He also is coaching football at the high school. Dan also attends West Texas State University studying — what else, but — physical education, of course!

Mrs. Zevely greatly enjoys dancing, having studied ballet, tap and jazz for twelve years. Being of an artistic nature, Suzy finds that oil and watercolor painting are rewarding outlets for apparent surplus energy. (The apparent surplus energy part is a studied conclusion reached by yours truly.) She is a baseball fan. Suzy also finds time to be an active member of Delta Zeta sorority and of Lambda Chi Alpha Crescent.

Suzy is very pleased to be a part of Gene Howe, speaking highly of the faculty and the youngsters. And, we are very pleased to have her with us! Welcome, young lady!
